 - discuss and apply the bases and conditions of academic writing (accuracy, peer review, source criticism, research ethics, etc);

Judgement and approach

- critically reflect on the bases and central problems of literary studies as well as on the role and function of literary studies in a modern society;
 - critically discuss fiction on the basis of a defined theme, a specific authorship, a literary genre or a (literary) historical period.

Course content

Module 1: Literary Theory and Method and Academic Writing (7.5 Higher Education Credits)

The aim of the module is to discuss and critically reflect on central literary theoretical and methodological problems as well as on the role of literature and literary studies in a modern society. As the module contributes to the completion of an independent research study, it also includes a critical discussion of the bases and conditions of academic writing (the writing process, accuracy, peer review, source criticism, research ethics) as well as the possibility for the student of structured reflection on his or her own research approach.

Module 2: Literary Studies (7.5 Higher Education Credits)

In the module, fiction and relevant secondary literature are analysed on the basis of a defined theme, a specific authorship, a literary genre or a (literary) historical period.

For students in the International Language Programme that were admitted before the autumn term of 2017, 2 credits of Module 2 are constituted by Career guidance.

Students in the International language programme that were admitted in the autumn term of 2017 or later study Career guidance to the extent that is stated in the revised programme syllabus of the programme valid from the autumn term of 2017.

Form of teaching

The teaching is conducted in the form of lectures and seminars.

Language of instruction: English

Assessment

Oral presentations, written assignments and continuous assessment of seminar participation.

Students who have failed any part of the course are given the possibility of a new test. In the case of written assignments, students may be offered the opportunity to do a supplementary assignment for a pass grade. Such an assignment must be submitted within the stipulated time (usually five working days after the result was announced) or else the student will receive a fail grade.

Those who have passed in a subtest may not undergo a new test for a higher grade. Nor do students have the right to withdraw a submitted test and in such a way avoid being graded.

If a student who has failed a test twice wishes to change examiner, he/she should submit a request in writing to the board of the department. The request should be granted unless there are special reasons not to.

In case the course ceases or goes through major changes, students are guaranteed access to three examination sessions (including the regular examination session) for a period of a year with the previous structure of the course as a starting point.

Grades

The grading scale comprises: Pass with Distinction (VG), Pass (G) and Fail (U).

Course evaluation

The students are given the opportunity to make a written evaluation of the course. The results of the evaluation are published digitally.

Additional information

Equality aspects should be taken into consideration in content, literature, teaching and evaluation. In addition, where relevant, the course should make students aware of and problematise ecological, economic, cultural and socially sustainable development.
